Publisher shall have the right to remove from its Site any Ad where the advertising material or the site to which the Ad is linked does not comply with Publisher's policies, applicable laws or where it is likely that the Ad or the site to which it is linked bring disparagement, ridicule or scorn upon Publisher. Publisher must immediately notify Adconion in case of such removal, provide written explanation to Adconion and shall be cooperative as to mutually acceptable alternative Ad from the same Advertiser as replacement. Adconion may request any time without reason that Ads shall be removed from Publisher Web Site with immediate effect. Adconion may, if possible, delete any such content from the Network. Subject to the terms and conditions of this Agreement, Adconion grants Publisher a world-wide, revocable, non-exclusive, non-transferable, non-sublicensable, limited use license to use, execute, and display the Adconion Code solely for purposes of receiving and displaying the Ads and performing Publisher's other obligations hereunder. Except for the limited license expressly granted in this Section, nothing in this Agreement shall be construed as Adconion granting Publisher any right, title or interest in or to the Adconion Code or any right under any patent, trade secret or other intellectual property rights of Adconion. Publisher acknowledges and agrees that Adconion owns all right, title and interest in and to the Adconion Code (including, without limitation, all software and technology underlying any such product, service, and/or information) and all related intellectual and proprietary rights of any kind anywhere in the world. All proceeds from accounts with fraudulent activity will have to be refunded to Advertisers. All Ads must be served from an Adconion server or serving location, or through an Adconion approved third party-hosted server. Stored images that are loaded from a different location will not count towards any statistic or payment. Publisher agrees to not artificially inflate traffic counts using a program (including scripts), device, or other means. Excessive page reloading or any other abuse of Adconion's system could result in legal action. No Publisher shall induce visitors to click on Ads based on incentives, provided, however, that, with the prior written approval of Adconion, certain language may appear above or below an Ad served by Adconion. Without limiting the foregoing, the following methods of generating visitor interest are unacceptable to Adconion and may be grounds for dismissal from the Network: use of unsolicited email or inappropriate newsgroup postings to promote Publisher Web Site; auto-spawning of browsers; automatic redirecting of End-Users; Publisher's clicking on own banners; blind text links; misleading links; or any other method that may lead to artificially high numbers of impressions or clicks.

4.9 Collected Data. Adconion owns all Collected Data gathered by or through Adconion Code and/or any or all reports, results, and/or information created, compiled, analyzed and/or derived by Adconion from such data. Upon termination or expiration of this Agreement, upon the request of a Disclosing Party, the Receiving Party agrees to return to the other all of such other Party's Confidential Information that is reduced to one or more writing, drawing, schematic, tape, disk or other form of documentation, or to certify to the Disclosing Party in writing that all such material has been destroyed, however, destruction is only permitted after Disclosing Party's prior approval.
